White LION

According to legend of the Shangaan people, the White Lion is considered a messenger of the gods, and the birth of a White Lion is a sign of prosperity for their people. However, within his own pride, the White Lion is an outcast as his white coat makes him stand out in the dangerous African wilderness.

Letsatsi, the adorable and adventurous White Lion, is cast from his pride and is forced to survive on his own at a very young age. As he never learned to hunt, Letsatsi walks for days, desperate for food. He tries in vain to eat a hard-shelled tortoise, a prickly porcupine, and, in desperation, a fully-grown elephant! Even something as simple as getting a drink of water leads to a dangerous encounter with a large crocodile.

Just when it seems Letsatsi won't survive, he encounters an older lion, Nkulu, who befriends Letsatsi and teaches him how to hunt. With Nkulu's help, Letsatsi grows from a young and naive lion cub into a magnificent adult. However, Letsatsi is not out of danger. He still has to survive the most dangerous animal of all—Man.

A local trophy hunter sees Letsatsi and vows to take down this rare and magnificent White Lion. Fortunately for Letsatsi, a young Shangaan warrior named Gisani, has made it his mission to protect the White Lion, to ensure the prosperity of his people.

Even though he must put himself in extreme physical danger, Gisani will sacrifice whatever he must because "The White Lion must live!" Finally, Letsatsi returns triumphantly to his original pride and claims his rightful place as the REAL lion king!

Shot entirely on location in Africa!
